King County Agriculture Program

King County Department of Natural Resources & Parks (DNRDP) Water and Land Resources Division (WLRD) Agriculture, Forestry, & Incentives (AFI) program provides direct operational, environmental, and farming-related resources and services for farmers across King County. Their programs and services include the Farmland Preservation Program, livestock program, King County Agriculture Commission, noxious weed control, and many more. To learn more, click here.

WSDA Regional Markets Program & WA Meat Up

The Washington State Department of Agriculture's Regional Markets Program works to strengthen the economic viability of small and direct-marketing farms and ranches, and to increase the availability of healthy, locally-grown foods for all Washingtonians and support robust local food and agricultural economies. The program offers information, resources, training and technical assistance, and regulatory guidance to farms and local buyers of Washington agricultural products.
