

Sustainable Communities Funders

This collaborative effort invests, aligns and pools resources across the region to address issues where environmental sustainability intersects with equitable inclusion and economic opportunity. Established in 2013, this collaborative brings together individual donors, Bullitt Foundation, Satterberg Foundation and Seattle Foundation to advance shared priorities through grantmaking. Our current work includes learning about and supporting environmentally sustainable farming efforts that drive structural economic change by fostering alternatives to extractive farming practices and center opportunities for those who have been historically excluded from equitable access to farming and healthy food. Additionally, we invest in climate through transportation policy that reduces barriers to transit use through increased access, safety, and community-led solutions. Learn more by clicking here.
